THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Under the joint resolution of Congress approved June 20, 1874, the Congressional Printer is directed to keep a separate and exact account in detail of all expenditures for printing, mailing, and binding the Congressional Record, &c., and publish the amounts thus yearly expended in his next succeeding annual report, and each succeeding report, separately from the other disbursements of his office.

I would most respectfully call your attention to table No. 7 of this report for information relating to the expenditures on account of the Record for the second session of the Forty-fourth Congress. I would call your attention, also, to table No. 13, which exhibits the names of those employed on the Record and the amount paid to each.

The number of bound volumes of the Record for the first session Forty-fifth Congress, including the index, is one, comprising 1,144 pages. The number of copies of that volume printed and bound is 7,550; these have been disposed of as follows:

Delivered to Senate folding-room.....	2,460 volumes.
Delivered to House folding-room.....	4,714 volumes.
Delivered to House library.....	100 volumes.
Delivered to Library of Congress.....	52 volumes.
Delivered to officers of the House.....	9 volumes.
On hand.....	215 volumes.
	<hr/> 7,550 volumes.

The number of copies of the Record authorized by law is 10,350, of which number 3,176 of the first session and 3,360 of the second session were delivered unbound to the order of members of Congress.

The number of bound volumes of the Record for the second session Forty-fifth Congress, including the index, is six, comprising 6,179 pages. The number of copies of each volume printed and bound is 7,000, aggregating 42,000 volumes. These have been disposed of as follows:

Delivered to Senate folding-room.....	13,932 volumes.
Delivered to House folding-room.....	26,208 volumes.
Delivered to House library.....	600 volumes.
Delivered to Library of Congress.....	312 volumes.
Delivered to officers of the House.....	54 volumes.
On hand.....	894 volumes.
	<hr/> 42,000 volumes

The cash receipts on account of Congressional Record for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, are as follows:

From sale of Records.....	$2,935 00
From sale of paper shavings.....	1,757 47
The amount received for speeches printed from matter contained in Record.....	17,350 00

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, there was received from the sales of documents, Records, waste paper, &c., the sum (which has been deposited in the Treasury) of $54,257.18.

IMPROVED MACHINERY FOR PRINTING AND BINDING.

Improvements in machinery for the more rapid and economical manufacture of newspapers and books are constantly being made, and those who do not use them work to great disadvantage.

Seeing no reason why the Government Printing Office should not avail itself of some of these improvements, two large presses, on which to print the Congressional Record, and other work when not needed for that publication, have been put into it. More work can be done on these presses than can be done on twelve Adams presses, and by the employment of one third of the number of employes required by those presses.

Nine book-sewing machines have also been put in operation, by which books are sewed with wire instead of thread, and at greatly reduced cost.

To ascertain the economy in their use a daily record is kept of the work done on each machine, and contrasted with the cost of hand-sewing.

The following table shows the saving made the week ending on the 21st of last month, being about the same as several previous weeks:

Number of machine.	Character of work.	Hours.	No. of books.	Signatures.	Average per hour.	Pay received.	Cost if done by hand.

			12,353	457,061	99 00	515 98
							99 00
Saving on the nine machines one week							416 98

Thus, in 52 weeks, there will be a saving of $21,632 over the old method, should the machines be constantly at work.

The saving is still greater in sewing larger books, such as the Congressional Record and the Revised Statutes.

The result on the last edition of the Revised Statutes, being 15,000 copies, is as follows:

If sewed by hand.....	$2,400
By the machines.....	300

At a saving of.....	2,100
---------------------	-------

In addition to this saving, the binding is more substantial than if done by the old method, as the book may be opened at any part without injury, which cannot be done when sewed with thread.

The edition of 300,000 volumes of the Agricultural Report, if sewed—
By hand would amount to.....	$8, 214
By the machines	2, 220
<hr/>
At a saving of.....	5, 994

An improved method of pressing sheets after being printed and folded, by which at least $5,000 per annum will be saved, has been adopted.

OUTSIDE FIRE-ESCAPES.

At the last session of Congress, an appropriation of $3,000 was made for the purpose of building outside fire-escapes from the Government Printing Office.

Proposals were invited, and the contract was given to Messrs. C. A. Schneider & Sons to build them from the upper two stories, on a plan approved by Mr. Clark, the Architect of the Capitol, for the sum of $2,244, leaving $756 of the appropriation to be covered into the Treasury.

They are of brick and iron, and are very substantial, so that, should a fire occur in defiance of every possible precaution, they would afford additional and ample means of escape. From the first story there are three wide stairways, so that an outside escape is not needed for it.

PRINTING AND BINDING FOR THE DEPARTMENTS.

The idea prevails to some extent that the bills for work executed for the departments are paid by them as though the Government Printing Office were the property of a private individual. This is not true. Of recent years appropriation bills have contained a provision directing that, out of the sum appropriated in gross for printing and binding, the departments may have work done to a limited amount. In so large an establishment it is impossible to arrive at the exact cost of each job of work, but to enable the departments to keep within the limits prescribed a bill as near the real cost as possible has been sent to them upon the completion of each requisition. These bills are not known at the Treasury, and do not enter into consideration in the settlement of the account of the Public Printer. The real cost of all the work done is shown in the pay-rolls for labor and by the vouchers for materials consumed, by which his accounts are settled.

In view of the recent introduction of additional labor-saving machinery, a revision of the scale of approximate cost, established several years ago, has taken place and a considerable reduction made. The effect of this will be to increase the quantity of work for the departments out of the specific sums named in the appropriation bills.

Total	348, 745 20	350, 220 75

For the purpose of making a fair comparison between the cost of the Record for the Forty-fifth Congress and the cost of the Globe for the Forty-second Congress, the following facts should be kept in view:

First. That $100,000 is charged against the Record for reporting, while only $51,987.53 is charged against the Globe, and that the difference in the charge for reporting, $48,012.47, should either be added to the cost of the Globe or deducted from the cost of the Record.

Second. That the Record for the first and second sessions of the present Congress contains 483 pages more of nonpareil and 121 pages more in the total number of pages than the Globe contained for the first and second sessions of the Forty-second Congress, the total number of pages in the Record being 7,279 and the total number in the Globe 7,158. A page of nonpareil costs for composition alone two dollars more than a page of brevier, the cost of a page of brevier being three dollars for composition. As the Record for the first two sessions of the Forty-fifth Congress contained 483 pages more of nonpareil and 121 more pages in the total number than the Globe for the first two sessions of the Forty-second Congress, $966 for the difference in the amount of nonpareil, $363 for the difference in the total number of pages, and the cost of paper, press-work, folding, gathering, &c., which amounts to $1,128.33, making a total of $2,457.33, should either be deducted from the cost of the Record or added to the cost of the Globe. If the estimate for 3,000 pages for the present session, with 500 pages of nonpareil, should prove correct, the Record for the Forty-fifth Congress will contain 624 more pages of nonpareil and 218 more in the total number of pages than is found in the Globe for the Forty-second Congress. The amounts to be added to the cost of the Globe or deducted from the cost of the Record, on account of the difference in the amount of work performed, to make the comparison fair, would then be as follows: For difference in the amount of nonpareil, $1,248; for difference in total number of pages, $654; and the cost of paper, press-work, folding, gathering, &c., which amounts to $2,026.40; making a total of $3,928.40.

Third. If the above sums are deducted from the cost of the Record or added to the cost of the Globe, then the sum of $40,230.75 should be deducted from the cost of the Globe, being the difference in the expense of binding.

If the above deductions should be made, the expense of printing, reporting, and binding would be as follows:

For the Globe	$514,500 56
For the Record (on the basis of prices paid in 1871-'73).....	346,292 35
Saving to the Government	168,208 21

‡ Average.

§ For nine months only.

The above facts and figures show that, although more than double the number of pages were printed during the last seven years of the present system, they cost $831,149.22 less than the last seven years of the old system, notwithstanding the wages paid workmen were about 37 per cent. greater than paid under the old system.

SPECIFICATIONS OF PATENTS.

Statement showing the cost of specifications of patents as printed at the present time in the Government Printing Office compared with the cost when printed by contract.

Where printed.	Date of issue.	Number of patents.	Number of pages.	Number of words.	Number of copies printed.	Cost.
At McGill & Witherow's.....	Nov. 20, 1866	201	257	190,450	21	$1,519 68
In Government Printing Office	Nov. 12, 1878	252	400	229,910	150	905 17

It will be observed that the specifications printed at the Government Printing Office contained over 39,000 more words than when printed by contract; and notwithstanding 129 more copies were printed, the saving to the Government was $614.51. Had the weekly issue of patents dated November 12, 1878, been printed under the Philp and Solomon contract of 1866-'68, the cost to the Government would have been $1,907.37 for 21 copies. As the cost in this office was only $905.17, the saving for this one week was $1,002.20; and, assuming the issue of November 12 to be an average weekly issue, the saving to the Government has been $52,114.40 each year since 1868, when the Patent Office printing was ordered to be executed in the Government Printing Office.

THE GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

Very few persons are aware of the magnitude of this establishment, or of the immense amount of printing and binding executed in it. The following tables show the amount of work done during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878.

The first table shows the total number of blanks, pamphlets, and documents, blank-books, and miscellaneous volumes, printed and bound for the Executive Departments.

Department.	Blanks, envelopes, &c.	Pamphlets and documents.	Blank-books.	Miscellaneous binding.

The next table shows the number of copies of documents, &c., printed by authority of Congress, as well as on resolutions of the Senate and House, and miscellaneous printing done on requisitions from the Secretary and Clerk, respectively, during the same time. The number of pages are for the documents only:

The capacity of the building where this immense amount of printing and binding is done does not afford sufficient room to work to the best advantage.

The recent purchase of the bound and unbound volumes and stereotype plates of the Congressional Globe renders an addition absolutely necessary. At present a large portion of this property is at the country place of the late Mr. Rives, and must remain there, unless a place be provided for it in such an addition.

The room in which the stereotype plates of the Congressional Record and other valuable publications are stored will soon be so filled that no more can be put into it.

A fire-proof vault of sufficient capacity to store the plates of the Congressional Globe, the Record, and the miscellaneous plates should be constructed as soon as possible, as otherwise the government may sustain a loss requiring hundreds of thousands of dollars to replace.

PURCHASE OF CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND STEREOTYPE PLATES.

The act of the last session of Congress making appropriations for the civil service has the following:

That the sum of one hundred thousand dollars is hereby appropriated to purchase, of the present owners and proprietors, the following property, to wit: Twenty-five thousand bound volumes of the Congressional Globe, forty thousand unbound volumes of the Congressional Globe, forty-six thousand metal plates for printing the Congressional Globe, twenty-four thousand composition plates for printing the Congressional Globe, the two-story fire-proof brick building situate in the rear of the Globe building on Pennsylvania avenue, and the copyright for the complete work: Provided, That the Public Printer, the Secretary of the Senate, and the Clerk of the House of Representatives shall examine the said property, and shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury that it is in good order and in accordance with the schedule submitted, before any of said money shall be paid: And provided further, That said property, when purchased by the United States, shall be placed in the custody of the Public Printer, under the direction of the Joint Committee on Public Printing; and that title to said property shall be approved by the Attorney-General.

In accordance with this provision, the Secretary of the Senate, the Clerk of the House of Representatives, and the Public Printer selected Mr. Roberts, the foreman of the bindery, and Mr. Elliott, the foreman of the stereotype-room, of the Government Printing Office, to examine the property purchased. They found 1,638 bound volumes in excess of the number named in the schedule; 36,408 unbound volumes, being 3,692 less than the number named. They also found 23,403 composition plates and 52,647 metal stereotype plates, being 7,000 more plates than named in the schedule.

After this property came into the possession of the government, a thorough examination was made to ascertain how many complete sets (of 108 volumes in a set) of bound and unbound volumes comprised the purchase, and also find out whether or not stereotype plates existed for all the volumes.

The result of such examination is presented in the following table:

Number of volume.	Congress and sessions.	Number of bound volumes on hand.		Number of unbound volumes on hand.		Number of volumes required to be printed to complete sets of 500.		Cost of printing and binding the additional volumes required to complete sets of 500.

There are no stereotype plates for the volumes marked thus*.

One hundred and eight volumes constitute a complete set of the Congressional Globe. It will be seen by the above list that only two complete bound or unbound sets are on hand.

There are no stereotype plates for fifteen volumes.

The table also shows how much money it will require to reprint and bind a sufficient number of copies to make 500 complete sets, or 54,000 volumes.

It will be perceived that unless a reprint is had the volumes on hand are almost valueless, except for waste paper.

It is the province of Congress to determine what shall be done with them.
